dedication

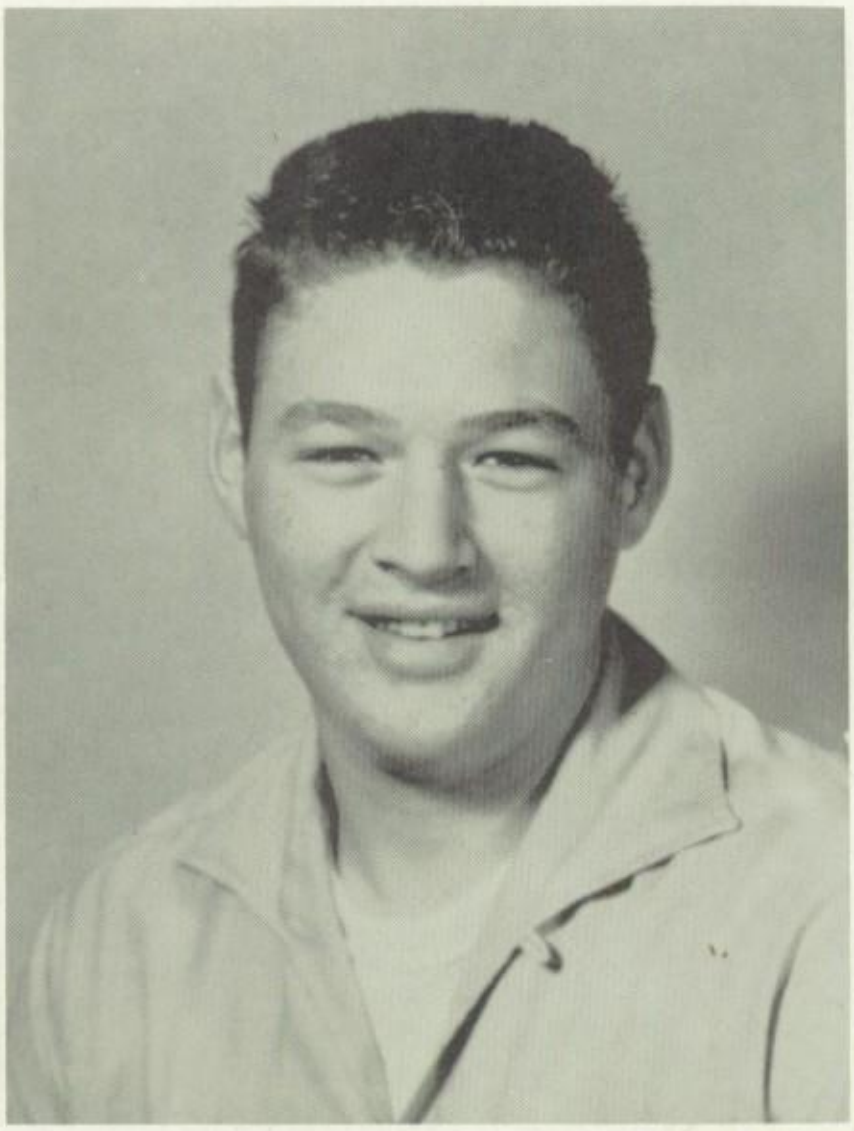
Mr. Rogers, the 1958 Treasure Chest is yours. You have devoted your time, energy, and skill to help us realize our ambitions and hopes. When we were faced with problems you guided us to a better understanding.

To thank you for your care and guidance, we, the class of 1958 dedicate this annual to you.

In Remembrance

"Teen-age boy killed in an automobile accident." Today's headlines--tomorrow's forgotten tragedy --but before we pass on, let us contemplate a while on the life of Art Hoover.

Some of you didn't know Art, other than an occasional "hello" or such; but those of us, in athletics, knew he was all boy--maybe different in appearance and speech--but still a boy, with much the same ideas as other youth, not too much for school and work, but all for sports of all types, family, friends, basketball, and baseball.



Art dearly loved athletics--they were his life. He was fond of his friends, his coach, and his buddies. We are sure that he passed away happy, on one of God's wonderful days, before the sun had reached noon. This is symbolic of his early departure--in the morning of life--many good things done, many good times with friends and athletics. He had a great love of life and sports.

Art had his happy days on earth, and now, he has made his debut before God. May God see fit to give him the chance to accomplish the task that he was sent on earth to do.

class trip

Sunday, April the twenty-seventh, at 10:55 A.M., an eager, bright-eyed group of twenty-eight Avon seniors, accompanied by four sponsors, boarded a TWA Super Constellation to arrive in Washington, D.C. at 1:35 P.M. Upon arrival, they immediately begin a sight seeing tour of Washington and surrounding vicinity. After their tour, they checked into the Manger-Annapolis Hotel.

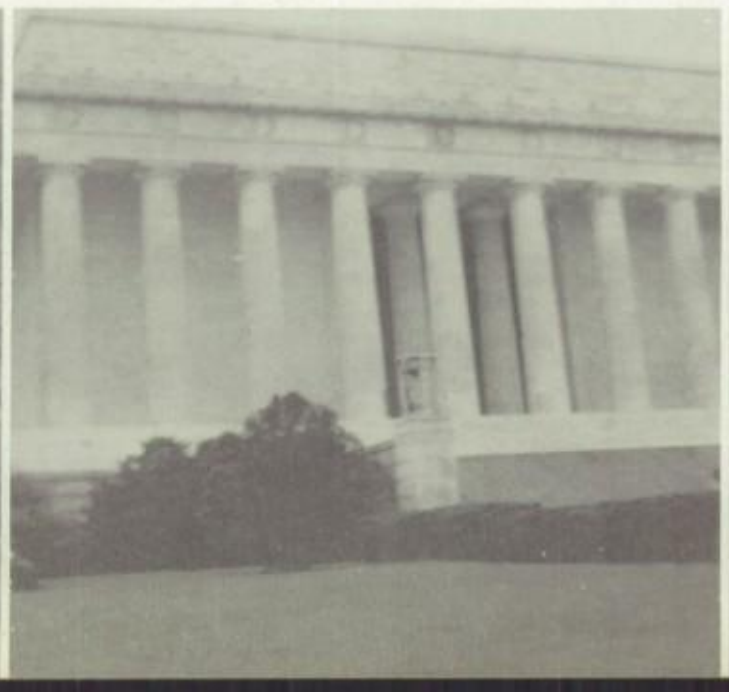
After a short night, the excited class arose Monday morning, had an early breakfast and began another tour at 9:00 A.M. Pausing only for lunch, the seniors extended this last tour of the nation's capital until 6:00 P.M., when they boarded another plane and headed for the city of enchantment and bright lights, New York!

The group arrived at LaGuardia Airport in New York about 7:30 P.M. and transferred to the Sheraton-McAlpin Hotel, at 34th and Broadway. After a brief stop, they visited the Empire State Building Observatory.

They began a down town sightseeing bus tour, Tuesday, April 29, at 9:00 A.M. Directly from the bus tour, the seniors transferred to a guided tour of the United Nations General Assembly Building. The afternoon and evening were left free for the students and escorts to enjoy themselves as they pleaed.

Bright and early Wednesday morning, the class boarded a sightseeing boat for a cruise around Manhattan Island. At 1:30 the cruise ended, and by 2:00 P.M. the seniors were touring the famous Radio City Music Hall. They transferred to LaGuardia Airport at 6:00 P.M. and boarded a TWA Super Constellation for their return home. A delicious dinner was enjoyed aboard the plane. A tired, but happy, group of people had arrived in Indianapolis at 9:35 P.M.

The trip was both educational and entertaining. It left many happy memories for the class of 1958.



Guess Who!

Hello!

Moments to Remember

class history

It was August, 1946, when fifty, scared but expectant, five and six year-olds, trooped into the gigantic structure that was to be their home for twelve years. Their teacher was Mrs. Minne Bee Parsons. The students starting their first year were Terry Adamson, Ronald Bartley, Velda Bates, Chelta Belt, Geoffrey Bradley, Barbara Cartlidge, Judy Chandler, Wayne Coursey, Irene Crouch, Tracy Crump, David Cserep, David Hancock, Diana Haus, Caroline Heckathorn, Kenneth Henderson, Julia Jenkins, Jack Kepler, Judy Kocher, Roddy Lane, Shirley Mears, Sandra Monday, Norma Muncy, Rollin Nichols, Carolyn Parsons, Nancy Plasters, Hazel Price, Mary Jane Roberson, Myrna Roseboom, John Russell, Dale Shaw, Dale Smith, Ronald Smith, Claire Stanley, David Woodall, Jacqueline Young, Thomas Ridenour, Patty Duree, Ronald Conner, Grace Anne Kemp, Martha Rushton, Eugenia Darnell, and Othella Darnell.

There were forty-three of us when we entered the second grade in 1947. Our teacher was Mrs. Horton. We gained ten students that year. They were Brent Bowden, Warren Gray, James Kern, Joseph Parrish, Terry Shields, Loren Fletcher, Jeanne Urick, Minnie Bentley, Sandra Graham, and Janet Gerdts. We lost Barbara Cartlidge, Judy Chandler, Wayne Coursey, David Cserep, David Hancock, Kenneth Henderson, Mary Jane Roberson, John Russell, Ronald Smith, David Thomas, David Woodall, Jacqueline Young, Ronald Cooner, Grace Anne Kemp, Eugenia Darnell, and Othella Darnella.

Fifty-one students entered the third grade in 1948. Our teacher was Miss Virginia Parsons. The new additions to our class were Allen Benslay, Irvin English, Marcia Enlow, Tom Gentry, Nancy Lewis, Richard Lewis, Dick Wright, Kenneth Dozier, Ralph Hunt, and Chester Bragg. Brent Bowden, Joseph Parrish, and Patty Duree left our group.

We had forty-five students in the fall of 1949. Our teacher was Miss Risley. Richard Bennett, Wallace Eggers, David Willoughby, David Hugo, George Porter, Dallas Summerlot, Patricia Morrow, and Marvella McClain joined our group. Chelta Belt, Minnie Bentley, Irvin English, Warren Gray, Carolyn Heckathorn, Roddy Lane, Nancy Plasters, Thomas Ridenour, Kenneth Dozier, Terry Adamson, Martha Rushton, and Chester Bragg dropped from our list.

Fifty-one of us entered school in the fall of 1950. Our teacher was Mr. Wallace. Robert Adams, Richard Autry, Tom Cole, Betty Jean Hartsock, Ronald Hiser, Donald Bledsoe, Mary Long, Iona Ham, Carolyn Webber, Robert McLauchlin, Leonard Gann, Larry Brinker, Nina Gates, and Barbara Troutman decided to enter our ranks. Richard Bennett, Wallace Eggers, Julia Jenkins, Dale Smith, David Hugo, George Porter, and Patricia Morrow departed for other schools.

Our troup totaled forty-three as we entered the sixth grade in 1951. Mr. Hill was our teacher. Kenny Duke, Leonard Farrand, Marcia Mueller and Caroline Howell enrolled in our class. That year found Robert Adams, Ronald Bartley, Betty Jean Hartsock, James Kern, Sandra Monday, Carolyn Parsons, Donald Bledsoe, Mary Long, Iona Ham, Carolyn Webber, Robert McLauchlin, and Leonard Gann missing from our group.

The year of nineteen hundred fifty-two, the year for which we had waited, opened with fifty students in the seventh grade. The new building was completed and we started our new schooling in Room 2. Our home room teacher was Mr. Cox, and our principal was Mr. Robert Price. Jim Coons, Jerry Cooper, Wallace Eggers, Eric George, Terry Jackson, Judy Vehling, William Reffitt, Sandra Stainbrook, Carol Stainbrook, Denita Del Signore, Kenneth Early, Carl Shorter, Margaret Cox, Morris Francis, and Bill Lane entered our class. Leon Farrand, Nina Gates, Nancy Lewis, Richard Lewis, Marvella McClain, Marcia Mueller, Dale Shaw, and Barbara Troutman departed for other schools.

The eighth grade, with Coach Scudder as home room teacher, added many changes to the enrollment. New students that year were Sharon Doolin, Janet Greenhoff, Jane Klee, Phyllis Schwenk, Shelby Thomas, Jack White, Harold McCarley, Glenda Cox, Janet Clemens, and Bob Hughes. We were sorry to lose Richard Autry, Loren Fletcher, Eric George, Ronald Hiser, Terry Jackson, Rollin Nichols, Claire Stanley, William Reffitt, Denita Del Signore, Kenneth Early, Carl Shorter, Margaret Cox, Morris Francis, and Bill Lane.

As we entered high school we were a happy group of forty-six students, ready for we knew not what, but anxious just the same. Our sponsor was Mr. Glover. Our class members were Terry Adamson, Velda Bates, Geoffrey Bradley, Larry Brinker, Jim Clarkson, Tom Cole, Jim Coons, Jerry Cooper, Glenda Cox, Irene Crouch, Tracy Crump, Sharon Doolin, Wallace Eggers, Marcia Enlow, Tom Gentry, Janet Gerdts, Jack Glover, Janet Greenhoff, Diana Haus, Barbara Hicks, Judy Hoover, Caroline Howell, Bob Hughes, Ralph Hunt, Grace Anne Kemp, Jack Kepler, Jane Klee, Judy Kocher, Shirley Mears, Norma Muncy, Hazel Price, Myrna Roseboom, Phyllis Schwenk, Terry Shields, Mary Spaid, Orville Stewart, Dallas Summerlot, Margaret Tharp, Jeanne Urick, Judy Vehling, Jack White, David Willoughby, Dick Wright, Kenny Duke, and Denny Dove.

Mr. Rogers sponsored the forty-seven members of our sophomore class. New students in 1955 were Julie Burdge, Iona Ham, Art Hoover, Dennis Jones, Don Hand, Tom Hand, Claude Richard, and Judy Webb. Glenda Cox, Sharon Doolin, Marcia Enlow, Jack Glover, Judy Hoover, Kenny Duke, and Denny Dove moved to other schools.

Our junior year was a busy one. We set a record for selling magazines. We soon became expert at peddling candy, popcorn, cokes, and ice cream. We even dabbled in the dramatics. Our junior play was "One Foot in Heaven." Mrs. McCormick was our director and we don't know how she stood all our foolin' around. Our Junior-Senior Prom was a wonderful affair. We had it at the Ulen Country Club in Lebanon. Our class had diminished to thirty-six. We added Bob Russell and Ruby McKinney that year. We lost Jim Coons, Jerry Cooper, Wallace Eggers, Janet Greenhoff, Diana Haus, Barbara Hicks, Ralph Hunt, Jack Kepler, Jane Klee, Bill Lane, Shirley Mears, Hazel Price, Mary Spaid, Orville Stewart, Don Hand, Tom Hand, Jeanne Urick, Claude Richard, Jim Clarkson, and Judy Webb.

We began our senior year with Mr. Rogers as our sponsor, Dennis Jones as class president and twenty-eight members in our class. We sold over $1200 worth of annual ads, establishing a new record. We have enjoyed our twelve years at Avon and wish to thank all our teachers for the guidance and inspiration they have given to us throughout these years. We, the class of '58, Jane Acton, Terry Adamson, Velda Bates, Geoffrey Bradley, Larry Brinker, Julie Burdge, Tom Cole, Irene Crouch, Tracy Crump, Tom Gentry, Janet Gerdts, Iona Ham, Caroline Howell, Bob Hughes, Dennis Jones, Grace Anne Kemp, Judy Kocher, Norma Muncy, Myrna Roseboom, Phyllis Schwenk, Robert Russell, Terry Shields, Dallas Summerlot, Margaret Tharp, Judy Vehling, David Willoughby, Jack White, and Dick Wright, leave you, grateful for the past, and anxious for the future.

We, the Senior Class of Avon High School, in this year of nineteen hundred and fifty-eight, as we are about to leave this school, would like to look ahead twenty years to see some of the accomplishments made by the members of our fine class.

We will visit the annual class reunion. Our trip will be narrated by that famous baseball player and sportscaster, Dick Wright.

The reunion is to be held at the very famous night club, The Aragon Club.

Upon entering, we met the owner of this famous night spot, Margaret Tharp. After a short chat with Margaret, we saw two very distinguished looking women at a table by themselves. Getting closer, we recognized the two; they were Judy Kocher, the world's most famous designer of women's space apparel, and Caroline Howell, her head saleslady.

From there we moved on and at the next table we saw a quartet we remembered well; Tracy Crump, the owner of the world's largest fleet of space ships, and his two best pilots, Dallas Summerlot and Terry Shields. Along with them was Myrna Roseboom, a stewardess on Tracy's spaceline.

At the next table we visited, we met Julie Burdge and Iona Ham, co-owners of a chain of outer space drive-in root beer stands.

We left this table and moved on to meet two of our top scientists, Tom Cole who designed our first rocket to the moon, and Larry Brinker, who is working on a new fuel mixture for a rocket to Pluto. While we were speaking to them, Terry Adamson, who supervised the building of the underground city on the moon, arrived and we had a short talk with him.

The next celebrity we met was Phyllis Schwenk, the renowned novelist who was seated at a table with Norma Muncy, the business manager of the world's largest newspaper.

The singing attraction at the Aragon Club was Irene Crouch. So before moving on we stopped to see her fine performance.

As we continued our "travels" around the Aragon Club, we were greeted by Bob Hughes, champion pool player of the United States, and Dennis Jones, England's champion pool player who is in New York to play Bob for the world championship.

The next table held quite a surprise for us, for seated here was none other than Judy Vehling who you all know was the first woman to swim non-stop from New York to London.

At our next stop we met Tom Gentry, whose evangelistic meetings recently set new attendance records at Madison Square Garden. Visiting with him was none other than Geof Bradley, who coached Butler to its fifth successive national basketball championship last week.

By now a crowd had gathered at the entrance, so we went over to investigate. As we made our way through the crowd, we saw that two of the most important guests had arrived. It was the former Grace Anne Kemp, the first Woman President of the United States, and her husband Jack White.

In a small booth near the side of the ballroom, we found Mrs. Buck Rogers, better known to all of us as Velda Bates. Seated with her was that world famous flying instructor, Janet Gerdts.

Then seated in the next booth, we found Jane Acton and Bob Russell, talking over old times. Jane told us that she was running a home for retired space rangers, while we learned from Bob that he is now the president of the largest shoe firm in the United States specializing in magnetic space shoes.

As we were leaving, we heard a newsboy on the corner, telling of the new heavyweight champion of the world, David Willoughby. It seems that just tonight, Dave won by a TKO over seventy one year old Carmen Basillio. The blow that ended the fight was a left to the head that shattered the defenders glasses.

We would now like to return to our easy chair, lean our head back, and dream some more good things about the many happy hours at good old Avon High.

class will

We, the graduating class of 1958, Avon High School, being of sound mind and body, do hereby will and bequeath the following things to the following people providing they fulfill all the requirements.

ARTICLE I

I, Jane Acton, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get along with Mrs. Marie Mitchell, to Sondra Kennedy, providing they don't start using fists.

I, Terry Adamson, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to pole-vault to Mr. Eddie Blair, providing he will start at ten feet every day, eight days a week.

I, Velda Bates, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to wait to Marilyn Raabe, providing she doesn't have to wait over a year and a half.

I, Geof Bradley, do hereby will and bequeath my basketball playing ability to Denny Bradford, providing he will average fifty points a game next year.

I, Larry Brinker, do hereby will and bequeath my height to Butch Price, providing he isn't over 6 feet, 4 inches when he's a senior.

I, Julie Burdge, do hereby will and bequeath my swiftness and my ability to get all my homework in on time to Rose Ellis, providing he stays up until one o'clock every night.

I, Tom Cole, do hereby will and bequeath my red hair to Betty Humphrey, providing she doesn't bleach it.

I, Irene Crouch, do hereby will and bequeath my reckless driving to Mr. Arthur Davis, providing he improves everytime he goes driving.

I, Tracy Crump, do hereby will and bequeath my Chevrolet to Merrill Roberts, providing he donates his old Ford to the Senior class for scrap metal.

I, Tom Gentry, do hereby will and bequeath my four-bottom plow to Bobby Hutchens, providing he plows under everything that gets in his way.

I, Janet Gerdts, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to learn to fly to Bill Jones, providing he solos two years after his first lesson.

I, Iona Ham, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get flustered when called upon to recite to Joanne Parrish, providing her face turns as red as her hair.

I, Caroline Howell, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to go steady five times in one year to Marilyn Knarr, providing she keeps her own class ring.

I, Robert Hughes, do hereby will and bequeath my ping-pong playing ability to George Petree, providing he practices once a day, eight times a week.

I, Dennis Jones, do hereby will and bequeath my "old green bomb" to Jack Huffman, providing he keeps everything running, and uses it only when he goes on dates.

I, Grace Anne Kemp, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to smile to Joe Hugill, providing he does not frown more than twelve times at the opposing team on the basketball floor.

I, Judy Kocher, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to have more activities than I can keep up with to Margaret Pock, providing she doesn't miss more than four things in one evening.

I, Norma Muncy, do hereby will and bequeath my habit of losing things to Darlene Birch, providing she never loses more than five non-replaceable things in one day.

I, Myrna Roseboom, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to stay out of trouble to Sylvilene Larkin, providing she uses it to a good advantage.

I, Bob Russell, do hereby will and bequeath my nose, the name Rodney, and my half of Jackie Noonan to Joe Clossey, providing he never resells my half.

I, Phyllis Schwenk, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get out of study hall by taking six subjects to Joyce Lisby, providing she doesn't miss class more than one period a day.

I, Terry Shields, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to pass all the semester examinations to Jim Hiner, providing he doesn't do better than I.

I, Dallas Summerlot, do hereby will and bequeath my curly hair to Red Bledsoe, providing he puts it up every night.

I, Margaret Tharp, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to go with the tallest play on the basketball team to Marsha Quearry, providing she doesn't stand on her tip-toes when she kisses him good-night.

I, Judy Vehling, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to not miss a ballgame for two years to Sara Muston, providing that she yells real loud and loses her voice at five games and at the tourney.

I, Jack White, do hereby will and bequeath my flat-top to Dick Borcher, providing he doesn't cut it more than once a year.

I, David Willoughby, do hereby will and bequeath my red convertible to Jack Bell, providing he doesn't have more girls riding with him than I did.

I, Dick Wright, do hereby will and bequeath my senior cords to Larry Dinkel, providing he wears them to school at least once a week during his entire junior year.

ARTICLE II

To Mr. McClain, we leave our hot-rods.
To Mr. Rogers, we leave a fruit cake.
To Mrs. Marie Mitchell, we leave a quieter home room.
